Message by Executive Director:

Sustainable Social Development Organization (SSDO) has successfully launched its campaign for social accountability at all tiers in Pakistan. We have continued to keep the spirit of goodwill and benevolence among the community and the donors. We are striving hard to ensure transparency and accountability in the public sector of Pakistan. I am glad to see that the local stake holders along with the relevant members of Provincial and National Assembly and public officials understand the concerns of their area and joining hands with our team to work together for institutional reforms and improved public service delivery in Pakistan
Regards,

Syed Kausar Abbas

EDITORIAL:

Dear Readers,
Our April 2016 newsletter has many updates on the interesting activities continuing at Sustainable Social Development Organization (SSDO). We value the support of Accountability Lab and Making All Voices Countable (MAVC) who helped us to accomplish our goals as we continue our work to ensure transparency and accountability in the public sector of Pakistan.

The enthusiasm and good will of the local stakeholders including public officials, elected representatives and community at large has become a motivation for our Youth Accountability Ambassadors to work even harder and make the community aware of their civic rights and responsibilities. Furthermore, the workshops conducted by the organization received high acknowledgement and more young people are willing to work as volunteers to ensure a social accountability in the society.
